

Present Watch To Klunk, Chairman Of Democratic Party, For Long Service

Fred G. Klunk, New Oxford, chairman of the Adams County Democratic party, was honored Friday night at a meeting of Democrats in Fairfield in recognition of his "devotion and hard work" during his many years of service in the Democratic party.

Klunk was presented with a wrist watch by Emory L. Hammer, who acted as chairman. Hammer praised him in presenting the award by saying he was the "most truthful, and most reliable man he had ever known." He never once "had any doubt that he was not trying to do a good job."

The county chairman said he was "deeply elated and mighty grateful for this fine gesture and for the help and support of all the people throughout the county. My successes would not have been what they are today if it weren't for all of you."

Lauded By Rice

John S. Rice, secretary of the Commonwealth and Democratic State chairman, said, "Adams County is fortunate in having a man like Klunk because he is a very sincere and devoted man in his work. He has shown his interest and ability to carry out his duties." Rice asked the audience to "go out and give Fred a Democratic majority this fall; that will be the best gift he can receive."

He asked the people to lighten the burden for Klunk because "if he isn't able to guide us, we'd be losing a tremendous asset." Klunk, a few years ago, suffered an illness but still maintained a nearly complete work schedule.

The Democratic leader was praised by various organization representatives. The Young Democratic Club representatives said that "Fred might be too old to belong to their club, but he's still young at heart."

Mrs. Marie Harbaugh, an active member in the party, said: "He finds a world when he finds a friend and makes that friend his own."

Dale Clark, candidate for General Assembly, spoke briefly and paid tribute to Klunk. Other guests present were William Shuman, candidate for the state Senate; Franklin County Chairman George Brendle; R. L. Pittenturf, state committeeman and others.

The watch will be engraved with Klunk's name and date and the occasion. He has been active in church work, served on the school board, Chamber of Commerce and Municipal Authority. Hammer praised him as being the "outstanding citizen of New Oxford."

The only other business at the meeting was the approval of the minutes read by Secretary J. Claude Hammond. A nominating committee of Edward Smith, Robert Cole and J. W. Kugler was appointed.

Man Is Jailed On Assault Charges

Father's Day for John L. Gebhart, 23, New Oxford R. 1, may fall short of an ideal happy family celebration.

Mr. Gebhart is in the county jail charged by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Adeline Feeser, New Oxford R. 1, with assault and battery. He was arrested Friday evening by state police from Gettysburg on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Harman Dell, Oxford Twp. Arrangements were being made today for a hearing.

Ike Blasts Red China For Brutal "Regimentation And Tyrannical" Oppression Of Mainland Chinese

TAIPEI (AP)—President Eisenhower today denounced Red China as a "tyrannical Communist regime" bent on brutal regimentation of hundreds of millions of mainland Chinese.

He pledged before massed thousands of free Chinese hailing his visit to Formosa that the United States would stand firm behind Nationalist China in resisting any Red Chinese aggression.

"You may be assured," he said in a speech, "that our continuing search for peaceful solutions to outstanding international problems does not reflect the slightest lessening of our determination to stand with you, and with all our free neighbors of the Pacific, against aggression."

Red Guns Sound

As he spoke the Chinese Communist guns that plastered the Nationalist offshore island of Quemoy Friday were silent.

The death-dealing record barrage against Quemoy killed seven persons and wounded 41 others. Peiping had said it would shell the island to show its contempt for Eisenhower. But the guns were silent today because this is an even-numbered day—and the Reds have confined their shelling to odd-numbered days.

In his speech the President expressed his determination to press on in searching for what he called an "effective means to outlaw war and to promote the rule of law among nations."

Such a noble quest, he said, is not aided by yielding to threats or by weakening defenses against potential aggressors.

"Indeed, such weakness would increase the danger of war," he said.

Eisenhower's denunciation of the Peiping regime was his second in seven hours after arriving on the Nationalist island stronghold for an overnight goodwill visit.

Two hours after landing, he labeled the savage Red Chinese bombardment of Quemoy, 100 miles away, as a "deliberate aggressive act by the Communists."

In his formal address, Eisenhower did not mention the Quemoy shelling. But he struck out again at the Peiping regime in these words:

The "Stars and Stripes" was adopted as the national flag of the U. S. on June 14, 1777, by a resolution of the Second Continental Congress.

But why red, white and blue?

The Founding Fathers may have been influenced by the flag of the British East India Company, a group of merchants organized for exploration and trade. Their flag

ST. JAMES TO HOST CARAVAN YOUTH GROUP

St. James Lutheran Church will play host to a team of Youth Caravaners from July 9 to 12. Caravaning is a part of the summer fieldwork program of the Luther League of America. This organization, with headquarters in Philadelphia, is the official youth organization of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Caravan teams are composed of three or four young people between the ages of 17 and 24. Each Caravaner is giving his summer, without pay, to serve the youth groups of congregations he visits. Altogether some 37 young people will render service to more than 150 congregations throughout the United States.

The Caravan program is designed to assist congregational youth groups with their total youth program. Devotional services, topic presentations, service projects, and recreational and fellowship sessions will all be given consideration.

The Caravaners have thoroughly prepared themselves for participation in this program. All have completed both a rigorous three months correspondence course, as well as a full week of briefing at Allentown, before beginning their summer itinerary.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning state police were called three miles north of Hanover on Rt. 194 to investigate a crash in which Donald R. Lockard, 28, 539 Baltimore St., suffered lacerations of the head when his car struck a roadside tree. He was treated at the Hanover hospital.

State police said Lockard was driving at a high speed when his car went out of control and skidded on the wet highway. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $100.

Two Boys Injured

Two 19-year-old boys were injured, one of them critically, when Robert L. Topper, Poplar St. Ext., Hanover, ran off Rt. 94 six miles north of Hanover this morning at 3 o'clock and struck a utility pole. The 1955 model car was demolished, state police said. Damage is estimated at $900.

Topper was headed south and lost control of the machine. He escaped with a neck injury but a passenger, Richard Hertz, Hanover R. 4, is in a critical condition in the Hanover hospital with a brain injury. He also suffered cuts and bruises about the head and face.

The United States does not recognize the claim of the warlike and tyrannical Communist regime in Peiping to speak for all the Chinese.

"In the United Nations, we support the Republic of China, a founding member, as the only rightful representative of China in that organization."

Eisenhower lauded the bustling island home of Chiang Kai-shek's free China as a shining example to the world of how free men can develop their economy without resort to the harsh measures adopted by the Reds.

Blazing Trail

He called on the free Chinese to press ahead with further economic improvements and promised "we intend to join hands with you in this great enterprise."

"You can blaze a trail of progress here on Taiwan," Eisenhower said, "that may ultimately shape the destiny of all our fellow countrymen, of nearly one-quarter of the human race."

"Your success in their field can sustain and guarantee your secure standing in the community of nations."

ELECTRICAL, RAIN STORM HITS COUNTY

A severe electrical and rain storm that covered most of Adams County early Friday evening dumped nearly an inch and a quarter of rain on Gettysburg and called out utility crews to repair lightning damage.

There were reports from Littlestown that a cloudburst there brought more than two inches of rain. The Adams Electric Cooperative reported most of its storm damage was in the Littlestown area.

The Metropolitan Edison Company had a number of calls to minor storm damage but said a section of the north end of Gettysburg was without current for about 45 minutes early in the evening when lightning hit a feeder line and "knocked out a breaker at the substation." The show at the Majestic was delayed about 15 minutes by the power failure.

"Routine Storm"

The United Telephone Company reported a number of service calls due to lightning knocking out fuses in individual lines and some damage to lines by whipping tree branches. Company repairmen said there was "nothing major and it really amounted only to a routine summer storm."

There was a report of a bit of hail in the early moments of the storm here but there were no reports of any hail damage up to noon today.

Showers continued at intervals during the night and sent the June rainfall total here over the four-inch mark. Normal for the month is 3.76 inches.

High Winds Damaging

HARRISBURG (AP)—Lightning and high winds caused considerable damage Friday night as a series of electrical storms swept across central and eastern counties of Pennsylvania.

Lightning knocked television station WGAL, Lancaster, off the air nearly two hours, set at least two fires and killed 15 cows in a Chester County pasture.

Winds, recorded at up to 50 mph per hour in gusts at some places, howled over trees and interrupted electrical power in some areas.

Hail fell in some areas and most of the state east of the Alleghenies had heavy downpours.

The line of storms extended into central New York state. Binghamton reported highways and a two-mile stretch of railroad inundated. Johnson Field, home of the Eastern Baseball League Binghamton Triplets, also was under water.

Bolt Hits TV Tower

A bolt of lightning struck WGAL tower in Hellam, York County. The station's engineers completed emergency repairs shortly before 9 p.m.

Daniel Kauffman Jr., said he found 15 of his 29 cows under a tree on his farm near Atglen in Chester County.

A hanger at the Green Acres Airport in Quakake, seven miles from Hazleton, was destroyed by a fire apparently touched off by lightning. Firemen estimated the loss at $18,000 to $15,000, including the hanger and an old plane which was partly dismantled.

In Harrisburg, lightning touched off a blaze in a plant which makes potato chip machines. The blaze was confined to the roof, but an official said water and smoke may have damaged machinery which he estimated was worth $300,000.

Sections of Scranton were without power several hours. Hail hit Bloomsburg and parts of Susquehanna County.

PROPOSED TAX REPEAL FACES SENATE FUSS

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill proposing repeal of federal taxes on local telephone service, telegrams and travel faces a hot debate and a possible filibuster today in the Senate.

A row over the measure erupted Friday night. It kept the Senate in session past midnight and drew warnings it could upset plans for adjournment of Congress before the July 11 start of the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles.

The repeal provisions would bring a federal revenue loss estimated at 752 million dollars.

The Senate Finance Committee had hooked them onto a bill requested by President Eisenhower seeking a year's extension of four billion dollars worth of various other taxes and another increase in the limit on the national debt.

May Mean Postponement
The dispute apparently meant a postponement until next week of a Senate vote on ratification of the security treaty with Japan.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) led and lost a fight to block the Senate leaders' plans to bring the disputed tax bill before the chamber today. Clark protested that he and others were being "rushed, ill prepared, into the fight" by the leaders' refusal to postpone the debate.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) fired some caustic blasts at senators he said believe they know his job better than he does. He forced the issue, and by a top-heavy vote the Senate backed his motion to make the tax bill its pending business.

Anderson Warns Congress
Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson reportedly has warned Congress that President Eisenhower will veto the tax bill if any revenue reducing provisions are added to it.

Despite Anderson's warning, the Finance Committee approved the travel tax repeal amendment to become effective Aug. 1, and the telephone and telegram repeals to be effective July 1.

The Senate was about to adjourn shortly before midnight when Clark made his surprise effort to block Johnson's move to call up the tax bill as the pending business for today.

Johnson told the Senate he had been warned "the bill would be filibustered if I brought it up."

The bill's major provisions are designed to extend the corporation tax at its present 52 per cent rate for another year, and also extend a variety of excise taxes on cars, auto parts and accessories, liquor, wine, beer and cigarettes.

The corporation income tax rate will drop to 47 per cent if it isn't extended by June 30, Johnson said, and various other taxes would expire or be reduced if Congress doesn't act by that deadline.

Rockefeller Says Democrats Stall

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has charged that Democratic bickering is stalling the progress of civil rights.

The Republican governor told a Negro Baptist Congress Friday night that the cause of racial equality has been advanced more in eight years of the Eisenhower administration than at any other time since the Civil War.

Rockefeller, openly at odds with the administration on some key issues, confined his criticism to the Democrats and made no mention of presidential politics. His speech was described as one of a series in which he intends to give his views on major problems.

Rockefeller pictured the Democrats as "hopelessly divided and fearful" on civil rights and called for an expanded federal program to speed integration.

Red Paid Rioters Well In Jap Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) says he has heard Communist demonstrators in Japan were paid $1.65 a day. He called this a fantastically high rate of pay for Japan.

Business Is Good

NEW YORK (AP) — More jobs, more personal income and more industrial production heartened business this week. Even so, some economists felt that things ought to be better.

Employment rose by one million to 67,208,000, a record for May. Unemployment, in a normal decline for the month, went down by 200,000 to a total of 3,459,000.

Another record was set when personal income climbed to an annual rate of $399,400,000,000, a gain of $1,600,000,000 over the April rate. This occurred despite continued decline in steel production, which caused widespread layoffs.

For the first time since January, industrial output increased in May.

FIRE DAMAGES AT CAMP DAVID

A fire Thursday gutted the electrical shop at Camp David, Catocin Mountain Presidential retreat, and did an undetermined amount of damage.

Tight security at the Camp prevented any detailed information concerning the fire.

However, it was learned from Charles E. Shank, manager of the Catocin Mountain Park, that most of the equipment used for maintenance of electrical service at the retreat was destroyed in the blaze.

The fire started about 10:45 and was not under control until about 12:45.

Shank said the fire equipment was used from the Park Service, from Camp David and from the Guardian Hose Company of Thurmont.

The electrical shop is located in about the central part of the Presidential Retreat, Shank said. He said as far as he knew there was no fire threat to other buildings. He also reported that the recent rains eliminated a fire threat in the woods of the heavily forested area.

Shank described the electrical shop as medium sized concrete block structure.

A member of the Guardian Hose Company said Friday morning that firemen were given orders by government officials not to discuss the blaze.

Since the building was in a heavily wooded area, the blaze was hardly visible to residents of the area.

Shank said the cause of the blaze is also undetermined.

Pirate Hill Ace Notches 10th Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vernon Law is the first major league pitcher to win 10 games this year and he's at least moderately optimistic about winning twice that many before the season is over.

The 30-year-old right-hander tagged No. 10 Friday night throwing a six-hitter and narrowly missing his third shutout as the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Los Angeles.

"I've got a good start," Law said, "and I've got a good chance to win 20 if these fellows keep giving me the support they did to night. A couple of our other pitchers could do the same thing."

Law, beaten only twice so far, was supported by two double plays, the second one in the ninth when the Dodgers had a run and a man on first with one out.

DA GIVES KEY TO

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP) — William Saied is quitting as assistant Oklahoma County attorney to go into private practice—but he plans to keep a sharp eye on 16 small brass keys he's handed out the past two years.

Saied gave each young first offender who received a suspended sentence one of the keys, and told them:

"This key will fit the front door of the McAlester prison. If you bring them back and are convicted again it will let you in. It is up to you to keep this key as a reminder to stay out of trouble."

So far, none of the 16 keys has been returned, he said, adding, "I intend to keep checking those boys to find out how they turn out."

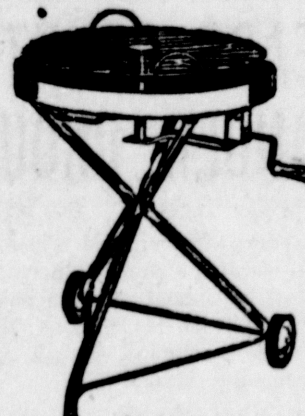

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has modified its long-standing rule that nothing in the way of insignia should be worn atop the wings displayed on the left chest by air crew members.

Chaplains who previously were fliers now may wear their insignia—the cross or tablet device—above their wings. They may not hold aeronautical ratings in addition to their chaplain status, but there still are a handful of chaplains in service who were pilots, navigators or other air crew members before they became clergymen.

Chinese Give Noisy Ovation To Eisenhower

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH

TAIPEI (AP)—To the thunderous roar of approval from a vast banner waving throng, President Eisenhower today denounced Communist China as a brutal tyrant bent on enslaving hundreds of millions of mainland Chinese.

The crowds loosed cheer after cheer.

It was a typical Chinese assembly, gay and exuberant, like one out to celebrate a noisy new year.

Firecrackers, Balloons

The turnout, complete with exploding firecrackers, toy balloons, thousands of crimson banners and flags, was the biggest Eisenhower has faced since his memorable speech before nearly one million Indians in New Delhi last December.

With its ocean of red banners it resembled a Communist May Day rally. Tens of thousands of school children, in uniform, marched to their assigned spots hours before Eisenhower was due to speak.

They fluttered banners such as: "Welcome to Ike, world anti-aggression leader," and "Long live Sino-U. S. friendship."

Directly in front of the huge rostrum from which Eisenhower spoke, 100 specially selected Quemoy inhabitants stood with a huge sign saying "Representative of Kinmen (Quemoy)."

Some Women Faint
Eisenhower dressed in a blue summer suit, stood bareheaded under an enormous velvet canopy. Above him, and his hosts—Generalissimo and Madame Chiang-Kai-shek towered huge three-story high American and Chinese flags, fixed to the side of the brick defense building.

Several women fainted in the crush as white helmeted troops and Boy Scouts, with staves, sought to keep the surging, pushing crowd from moving too close to the stand.

The crowd saved its mightiest cheer for the winnow. For three solid minutes it yelled, screamed and applauded after Eisenhower ended his 15-minute address.

EXPERTS WILL MEET MONDAY ON ARMS RACE

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. disarmament strategists today sought to plan for bridging part of the wide gap between the Western and Soviet proposals for ending the arms race.

Washington's intent was to find an area of common interest between the rival proposals and present this at Geneva in an effort to move away from the deadlock that has stymied the 10-nation disarmament conference.

The U. S. disarmament delegate, Frederick M. Eaton, was recalled from Geneva for consultations starting today and expected to continue into next week.

Herter Will Attend
Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, due back from a vacation Sunday was slated to take part in a strategy huddle Monday along with his disarmament advisers and representatives from interested agencies such as the Atomic Energy Commission, the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency.

After he returns to Geneva next week, Eaton plans to coordinate proposals with Western Allies before the plan is presented to the Communists.

The Allies were reported anxious to have a more forceful Western response than the turnaround to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's revised disarmament offer.

Russian Proposal
Khrushchev, in a post-summit announcement, called for doing away with atomic weapon delivery systems as a first disarmament step.

The West opposed Khrushchev's stipulation that all foreign bases be abolished at the same time. It questioned the practicality of achieving such a large amount of disarmament in one step and the effectiveness of the controls chev proposed.

It was understood that the proposed U. S. response would be within the framework of the comprehensive Western plan, offered when the Geneva talks began last March. It stresses piecemeal disarmament steps with controls along the way.

SQUALL LINES STRIKE PLAINS, EASE IN EAST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A line of thunderstorms, pushed by chill Canadian air, moved through the Plains States today, but the violent storm activity that has raked the East with hail and rain appeared to ease.

Thunderstorm activity was reported from western Kansas northeastward into the upper Mississippi Valley, but precipitation was light. A tornado caused minor property damage but no injuries early today near Grand Island, Neb., the Weather Bureau reported.

Behind the storm line temperatures dropped sharply. Readings in the 40s were recorded in such widely scattered areas as the San Francisco Bay region, northern Montana and the Great Lakes.

Mullan, Idaho, reported 40 degrees, Pellston and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., each registered 42 degrees.

Elsewhere, readings generally in the 60s and 70s.

An earlier cold front that dropped temperatures as low as 39 in the Midwest Friday had reached the East today, still causing some rain fall in the Northeast.

At Binghamton, in south-central New York, a violent electrical storm Friday unleashed a torrential rain and caused damage that may run to more than a million dollars.

Vero Beach, Fla., reported 1.90 inches of rain in six hours, Orlando, Fla., 3/4 inch in an hour. Hail peppered Fairfax, Va.

Expert Expects Restored Philippoteaux Painting To Be Finished This Year

Restoration of the huge $200,000 painting of Pickett's Charge by Paul Philippoteaux, which for many years has been hanging in the cyclorama at the top of the Baltimore St. Hill, is expected to be completed within six months, said Walter Nitkiewicz, the National Park Service museum preservation specialist.

Next spring the restored painting will be placed in the new Visitors' Center now under construction near the battlefield entrance off the Taneytown Rd.

All the canvas has been removed from the walls. Parts of it have been retouched.

After the canvas was removed from the wall, it was rolled onto large drums or cylinders. Four men were required to lift or carry the canvas or cylinder. In all, about 26 pieces form the total circular painting. There are 25 larger ones, while at one point, the canvas was patched and repaired so much that it came down in smaller pieces.

When the canvas is ready to clean, four men, all under the supervision of Nitkiewicz, scrape the glue from the back of the one-half inch thick painting.

Damaged By Fire
The painting originally was taken off exhibition in Boston and rested in an open lot behind the museum. At one time someone had set fire to the canvas. Nitkiewicz thinks that a portion of it was lost during the time of the transfer between Boston and Gettysburg.

The canvas was installed here in 1913. In 1948, emergency repair work was completed on it and segments were stitched and glued together. The men must remove this glue in order to restore the proper shade.

After the glue is scraped off with sharp instruments, Nitkiewicz personally goes over each inch of canvas with a detergent composed of anconia and water. This is to remove all excess dirt and grime not visible to the average eye. He uses cheese cloth as a swab instead of cotton. The painting is so rough that it would collect the cotton lint while cheese cloth suits the purpose well. After the canvas had been taken off the wall, the outside daylight could be seen between the cracks in the wall. Nitkiewicz said it certainly must have been susceptible to rain many times during the 47 years it hung there.

Will Support Canvass
Nitekiewicz said he will put a wax cloth on the back of the original canvas to protect and support it. They have put a facing tissue on the front to protect the painting while working on the back.

The preservation expert said that after the painting is removed to the new tourist center, it will be relined with a Belgium liner and wax adhesive. After that comes the actual retouching of any painting that needs done and a final surface coat. The whole operation will take perhaps 15 months.

A recent visitor to the museum was Dr. Martin de Wild, worldwide specialist who has been in the preservation business all his life and is now in the United States to remove the Gulbenkian Collection from the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., to Europe.

Restoration Cost $100,000
The painting originally was worth $200,000. The cost of the restoration project will be more than $100,000. Nitkiewicz says one can readily see just what it will be worth when the restoration is completed.

Obtaining manpower to help renovate the canvass is not easy.

Nitekiewicz personally brought in two St. Louis friends who have helped him in projects like these before. The other two men are local. A staff of eight is desirable but no experts are obtainable.

When working on the canvas, the men lay it on large flat wooden boards. They have built a sort of conveyor that they can walk out on to get to the center of the canvass since they cannot put their weight on it. This conveyor also slides along the platform so that a worker can reach any part of the painting without trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Nitkiewicz are temporarily residing on the Table Rock Rd., having moved to Gettysburg for the duration of the project. Both enjoy Gettysburg very much and think "it's a wonderful town." Nitkiewicz has been with the National Park Service since 1953, working out of Washington.

When the restoration and movement of the canvas painting are completed, it will be a job that even Paul Philippoteaux can be proud of.

HERE AND THERE

bore seven red and six white stripes.

In 1782 the U. S. Department of State explained the colors of this flag: Red stands for hardness and courage, white is a symbol of purity and innocence and blue is the color of vigilance, perseverance and justice.

According to legend, however, George Washington gave us a more dramatic explanation when he reportedly said:

We take the stars and blue from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty.

The original "Old Glory" was a world traveler, a refugee from the Confederacy, and a souvenir of the Smithsonian Institution.

A young sea captain named William Driver introduced the nickname in 1831, when he was given command of the brig "Charles Doggett." A group of citizens of Salem, Mass., presented him with a U. S. flag and he hailed it as "Old Glory."

Driver traveled twice around the world with the flag, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

When he retired in 1837, he took the flag with him to Nashville, Tenn., where the name "Old Glory" spread.

During the Civil War the flag was sewed inside a bed quilt to hide it from Confederate troops. When Union soldiers took Nashville in 1862, Driver brought out the flag and it was raised over the state capitol.

In 1922, "Old Glory" retired to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C.

Flag Day established as an annual national celebration in 1916 by President Woodrow Wilson. It is not an official national holiday, but the President proclaims a public observance every year.

Not even the President of the U. S. can be saluted by dipping the national flag. The U. S. flag may be dipped in courtesy to another nation, but, unlike some other national flags, never to an individual.

The U. S. is flag-maker to the world. America's skilled flag makers manufacture the flags of more than 150 countries.

The headquarters of the United Nations in New York, where the UN flag is supreme, is the only place within the U. S., its territories or possessions where a flag may be displayed in a position of higher prominence or honor than the U. S. flag.

Find Woman Living In A Padlocked House 5 Years

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—A 52-year-old woman with hair hanging nearly to her waist was found Friday in a padlocked house. Neighbors said they had not seen her outdoors in five years.

Policemen and Health Department agents went to the Pennsaiken home of Miss Ethel Beideman because neighbors had complained that the premises were overrun by rats and rank with weeds.

They found all the doors of the two and a half story wooden house locked. There was a padlock on the front door. But they obtained a key from Albert Bealor, 59, a gas station owner whom they said also lived in the home.

Once inside, the authorities spent two hours making their way through rooms piled to the ceilings with boxes of food and candy and junk. Finally they found Miss Beideman sitting on a stack of papers with a cocker spaniel on her lap.

Had $500 In Cash
The dog's hair reached the floor. Miss Beideman was wearing an old dress and slippers. A purse nearby held nearly $500 in cash. The electricity and gas had been shut off.

Miss Beideman was found to be in good physical health. Authorities said her conversation was somewhat incoherent, but she did tell them she had stayed indoors because of a leg injury.

"Al Bealor," she said, "brought me food every night."

She was taken to the State Hospital at Ancora for observation. A magistrate ordered Bealor to appear Monday night to answer such charges as may be brought by the Health Department.

JAP ELECTIONS EXPECTED SOON

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials say they expect new general elections in Japan to come as soon as possible after final ratification of the revised U. S.-Japan security treaty.

Such elections will clear the air after month-long leftist demonstrations and riots against the treaty. Premier Nobusuke Kishi and the scheduled visit of President Eisenhower, authoritative sources said.

Most observers here feel that Kishi will step down, dissolve the Diet and call for new elections once he achieves his major goal—bring in the new security pact into force.

The treaty will be automatically ratified by Japan Sunday, Japan time (a few minutes after 10 a.m. EST, today) if the Diet continues in session.

Responsible observers here predict another conservative victory in the Japanese general election. A caretaker government, perhaps headed by elder statesman Shigeru Yoshida, probably would lead the country while it prepares for new elections.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Today's Talk

I HOPE YOU PRAY
I have never been able to quite understand why so many people get shy at the mention of prayer. Perhaps it is because the real function of prayer is not understood.

To me, prayer is a relaxation of the human heart, an opening of the cells of the brain, a letting down, an acceptance of realities, and the acknowledgment to a higher force or power than our own that we are, after all, merely pilgrims, straying in a world of constant change and mystery—hoping for the rising of a better sun.

And then prayer, somehow, helps us to define ourselves to ourselves. We catch a clear sight of our failings as we lay our appeal for strength and courage, in simple faith, before One Who we at least feel can understand.

The process of silent prayer along the secret paths of our lives is in itself a thing of worth. You cannot dismiss the petty worries and annoyances of the everyday in a better way than through an appeal for clearer vision, firmer faith and pure patience.

One also does not have to subscribe to a particular creed in order that he or she may gain from prayer. Prayer is the unfolding of one's aspirations in the sincere belief that life is better than it is bad, and that there is always Someone in this world Who cares greatly—One Who notices even "the sparrow's fall."

I hope you pray! All great men and women do. And often I have had the idea that those one would least suspect of praying really pray the most. Spiritual strength does not offer a showy front, as do muscles of the arm.

I am satisfied that prayer is worthwhile, that it is the greatest source of power yet given to human beings for their inspiration and guidance toward a useful and complete existence.

SENATE OKAYS PAY BOOST AND MEDICAL BILLS

By ERNEST B. VACARRO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen fought a bitter battle Friday night against bills to raise federal workers' pay and to increase medical research funds. He lost in both cases.

The increased medical research funds, he said, would blast a "nuclear hole" in President Eisenhower's budget. The Senate passed it 63-6.

Dirksen threw in several amendments to tone down the 746 million dollar election-year pay raise for more than 1½ million government workers. His amendments were defeated and the bill passed 62-17.

Dirksen said he would ask President Eisenhower to veto both bills. Both were passed by margins more than enough to override the veto.

Third Bill Passes
Dirksen hinted a third measure passed Friday night by the Senate also might be vetoed. The bill authorizes future construction of water projects involving a federal cost of slightly more than 1½ billion dollars. It authorizes 134 projects in 41 states. The bill goes back to the House, which approved it in a more limited form last year.

The health bill also goes back to the House, which earlier had voted about 300 million less than the Senate. The pay increase bill goes directly to the President.

The medical research funds were included in a big $4,485,788, 931 bill for support of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Labor Department,

MILITARY AID BILL TO FACE ELLENDER CUT

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—A House-passed $3,384,500,000 foreign aid appropriations bill which represents a shallow victory for President Eisenhower was at the mercy today of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

A high-ranking member of that group, Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), was waiting for it with a loaded gun.

The bill cleared the House late Friday by a 258-124 roll call vote after the President's plea for more money was heeded only in part.

Less Than Asked
Its total still was 590½ million dollars less than the President wanted but was 200 million more than the House Appropriations committee had recommended for use during the fiscal year starting July 1.

By a vote of 212-173, the House restored half the 400 million dollars its Appropriations Committee had cut from direct military assistance allotments. But it refused to put back any of the $124,000,000 cut from defense support funds.

Military assistance funds provide military equipment, training supplies and services to friendly nations. Defense support funds are used for economic aid required, in addition to military help, to secure a specific contribution to defense. The aid goes to countries straining their economies by big military programs.

President's Complaint
The President had complained that the committee cuts would seriously impair this country's program of bolstering friendly nations against the encroachments of communism.

Eisenhower originally sought two billion dollars for military assistance. The House committee cut this to $1,600,000,000 and the House itself hiked the allotment to $1,800,000,000 with the aid of 105 Democrats and 107 Republicans and over the opposition of 139 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

After a hearing they were released on bail to await grand jury action.

and related agencies.

It topped President Eisenhower's requests by 465 ½ million dollars. The medical research portion was 664 millions which was 264 millions more than the President had asked, and 209 million more than the House approved.

Dirksen tried in vain to send it back to committee for a 250-million-dollar trimming of the research funds for the National Institutes of Health.

A row over a tax reduction bill kept the Senate in session until after midnight, and another morning session was arranged today.

The bill would repeal local telephone, telegraph and travel taxes. The pay increase bill headed for Eisenhower's desk would increase pay of 535,000 postal workers an average of 8.4 per cent and of a million other government workers by 7½ per cent.

Piloting the Cessna 170A bearing the name of Fantasyland will be two Indianapolis women. They are Mrs. Ethel Knuth (left above), who is a sister of Mrs. Kenneth Dick, one of the owners of Fantasyland, and Mrs. Sophia Payton, who holds a commercial license with 560 hours of flying time on a glider pilot rating. Mrs. Dick is shown at the right.

Mrs. Knuth and Mrs. Payton will be wearing the Civil War period costumes in which they were pictured above for the race. Mrs. Knuth, who started her flying career because her high school age son was interested in flying, has 350 hours of flying time. Both her son and her husband now are also licensed pilots. Early this year she won the Indianapolis Aero Club's "top pilot of the year" award. Mrs. Dick will be waiting for them at New Castle County Airport in Wilmington where they must cross the finish line before July 13 to be eligible for awards.

It's the first "Powder Puff Derby" for either of the flyers.

Man Collects $47,000 In Plane Crash; Is Arrested On Suspicion Of Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Residents watched in horror as a twin-engine plane roared overhead, trailing flames.

The pilot opened his escape hatch, but didn't jump.

He stayed with the fiercely burning craft until it smashed into a remote canyon—and died what was called a hero's death.

That was three years ago. Police Friday tarnished James Gibbs' claims to glory.

Gibbs, they said, took the plane up to crash it on purpose—for a share in $50,000 insurance money.

Gibbs' boss, they said, deliberately sabotaged the plane, to make sure that it wouldn't return from the flight.

Detectives booked Richard E. Loomis, 45, on suspicion of murder. Police said he collected $47,000 in insurance after the crash—and refused to share it with Gibbs' survivors.

No Chance To Jump
Did Gibbs, 32, know he was going to die?

"He certainly didn't go up there to commit suicide," said Sgt. Pierce Brooks, who worked four months on the bizarre case.

"Apparently he just didn't get a chance to jump."

The plane was a DeHavilland Mosquito bomber, built in Britain of plywood during World War II. They were called "flaming coffins" because the plywood was so quick to burn.

When Gibbs took off from Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank, July 1, 1957, witnesses noticed that the craft's landing gear didn't retract properly.

Sure Of Sabotage
Probers said excessive drag from the landing gear might have caused the engine to overheat, setting the wooden plane afire. Whether it was plotted this way isn't known.

But police say they are sure of this: "Loomis sabotaged the plane's hydraulic system, which controls the landing mechanism, in such a way as to preclude a safe landing."

Detectives have an agreement signed by Loomis and Gibbs two days before the crash, in which

Loomis agreed to pay Gibbs 10 per cent of insurance proceeds if the plane crashed.

Plane Cost $8,000
Four days before the crash Loomis insured the plane—purchased in England for $8,000—for $50,000. Loomis of London paid him $47,000 30 days after the crash.

Loomis denied making any insurance-split agreement with Gibbs. He also denied having plotted to cause the plane to crash.

The Los Angeles City Council honored Gibbs for riding the plane down instead of bailing out and leaving it to crash in the populous San Fernando Valley.

Ted Williams Clouts 500th Homer; Playing Last Year

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams, having reached the last of his personal goals with home run No. 500, has made up his mind to close out his long, brilliant and turbulent career at the end of the 1960 season.

This is no sudden decision on Ted's part. The tall, handsome Boston Red Sox slugger, who on Aug. 30 will reach his 42nd birthday, began this season with the idea that this would be his last one.

Friday night, after hitting his eighth home run of the season and 500th of his career, he was asked whether he had changed his mind. "My mind is made up in regards to next year," he said. "And you know what it is. The only reason I'm playing this year is because I wanted to vindicate myself and I also wanted those 500 home runs."

The conversation took place over the telephone. Ted was speaking from the Red Sox club house in the Cleveland Stadium. His team was still at bat in the seventh inning. He had walked and given way to a pinch runner. In the third inning, Ted got his 500th homer off right-hander Wayne Hawkins with a man on base. Boston won, 3-1.

"I hit under .300 for the first time in my career last year and people thought I was washed up," Williams said. "I knew I could still hit and I felt I could get myself in shape during spring training and avoid injuries and illness—something I didn't do last year—I could still help the club."

Ted undoubtedly would have passed the 600-homer mark had he not missed nearly five full seasons because of two hitches in the Marines and parts of four others because of two major injuries and various ailments. He has played only 10 complete seasons in 22 with the Red Sox.

Even at that only Babe Ruth with 714, Jimmie Foxx with 534 and Mel Ott with 511 hit more lifetime home runs.

LAUSSE MAY QUIT BOXING

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't know if I'll ever fight again," said the 32-year-old Eduardo Lausse of Argentina today. "I will go home and think about it."

Lausse, who has had 92 professional fights, was stopped for the second time in his career Friday night in a nationally televised bout with Marcel Pigou of France.

"I own a pizzeria and a bicycle shop in Argentina," Lausse said, "and I have a good living from them."

Lausse was discouraged that he couldn't finish Pigou after having the Frenchman down for an eight-count in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-rounder.

He tried to hard to finish Pigou that he ran out of steam and two rounds later the tide of battle changed completely.

In the seventh, Pigou connected with a left to the head and Lausse went down for an eight-count. He got up, but Referee Arthur Mercante stopped it at 2:32.

Johansson Rests, Patterson Works

NEW YORK (AP)—Ingemar Johansson is relaxing "in complete harmony within himself" and Floyd Patterson still is pounding the road in preparation for Monday's heavyweight title fight.

Johansson finished boxing Wednesday and settled down for five days of relaxation at his Grossinger, N.Y. camp. Patterson, knocked loose from his title by the Swede's "thunder and lightning" right last June 26, didn't stop boxing until Friday.

In two final rounds with Bjorne Ringaas, the Norwegian who once beat Johansson in the amateurs, Patterson appeared sharp, according to word from the camp at Newtown, Conn.

Patterson's schedule called for more road work today and a walk in the afternoon.

TAX FOR SAFETY

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—The town governing board has decided that homeowners who build fallout shelters must pay taxes on them.

Sparklers Flare For Yank Homers

CHICAGO (AP)—With 36 cents worth of Fourth of July sparklers, the proud New York Yankees answered the Chicago White Sox $300,000 exploding scoreboard Friday night.

The dignified Yankees, led by Manager Casey Stengel, turned comical and put on their own home run show with a display of sparklers in pounding out a 4-2 victory over the White Sox.

Everytime a White Sox player hits a home run, President Bill Veeck's expensive board goes into action with hundreds of flashing lights.

Friday night, as Yankees Cletus Boyer and Mickey Mantle hit homers their teammates—led by Stengel—lighted sparklers and danced a jig in their dugout. A crowd of 43,320 roared approval.

LABINE TOLD PITCHES HAVE BEEN TIPPED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 10 years in the National League, relief pitcher Clem Labine has made a discovery of dumbfounding dimensions.

Dozens of the hitters he has faced—in fact, more than half the batters in the league in recent years—have known exactly what pitch he was going to throw every time he has gone into a full wind-up.

Since this intelligence has put hitters in somewhat the same position as coached contestants on a counterfeit quiz show, Labine's 70-32 record with the Dodgers begins to assume more heroic stature than the bare figures suggest.

Labine was never aware of his critical flaw until after the Dodgers sold him this week to the Detroit Tigers.

"The next night," he said, "I was down at the Coliseum before the game and a player on another club—I'd rather you didn't use his name—came up to me and said: 'Clem, there's something I've been wanting to tell you for a long time.' Then he told me—"

"When I was going to throw a fast ball, I'd hold the ball with my knuckles facing the hitter before I went into the wind up. When I was going to throw a breaking ball, my knuckles would be facing sideways—toward third base."

"You have to understand this is something that's pretty easy for a pitcher to do unconsciously. You're just getting the ball into position early for the kind of pitch you're going to throw."

"This guy who told me is one of the older players in the league. He said I had been tipping my pitches ever since I came up from the minors. He's been with five clubs and he said every player on every one of them had known just what I was going to throw."

"I must have had pretty good stuff. Think what I could have done if they didn't know what I was going to throw. Actually, though, maybe it didn't make that much difference."

"The player who let me in on it has been a friend of mine for years. We play golf together all the time. When he finally told me he said: 'You can't imagine how many times I've wanted to let you know but I just couldn't do it because I would be taking something away from my team.' But he said that after such a long friendship he didn't want to see me go into the other league and do the same thing."

"I think it was damn decent of him to do it. A lot of guys wouldn't."

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A week ago it appeared the Springfield Giants might win the Eastern League Pennant in record time. By tonight they could be in second place.

The storms that washed out all of Friday night's games gave the defending champions a needed rest and sent them into today's double-header at Reading fresh in their efforts to end a four game losing streak to stave off onrushing Williamsport.

Williamsport, victor in eight of its last nine games, will send in southpaw Al Neiger against George Haney at Binghamton. A Williamsport victory and a split by the Giants would move Williamsport into first place by percentage points.

The Grays now trail by a half a game. Springfield will count on pitchers Jim Meyers and George Case. But they will be meeting perhaps Reading's two best, Julius Grant and Bill Fazaeks. Lancaster and Allentown meet in another double-header.

MINNESOTA FAVORED IN NCAA SERIES

OMAHA (AP)—Minnesota today was a strong favorite to win its second NCAA World Series championship after coming behind in sensational fashion to whip Southern California 12-11 in 10 innings and run its record to 3-0 in the current tournament.

The Big Ten baseball champions were down 7-0 after two innings against the West Coast Trojans but rallied for three runs in the seventh, five in the eighth and then tied in the ninth on an error by the Trojan third baseman.

In the 10th Minnesota won in a hurry as John Erickson walked, took second on a bunt, third on an error on a pickoff play and scored Barry Effress' drive down the third base line without a better out.

Was First Defeat
The defeat was the first of the year for Bruce Gardner who had won 16 games including one in the series.

Minnesota can wind up the Series Sunday if defending champion Oklahoma State can be beaten in a game scheduled tonight and the winner of the Arizona-Southern Cal night game can be beaten Sunday.

Oklahoma State stayed in contention with a 1-0 win over Boston College.

Arizona smashed St. John's 11-4 to become 2-1 along with Oklahoma State and Southern Cal.

Sigel, who attends Lower Merion High School, recently won the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Assn. golf championship.

PIRATES WIN AGAIN; BRAVES DEFEAT CARDS

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Left-hander Harvey Haddix finally gave Pittsburgh a third complete-game pitcher, and the Pirates added another starter in southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell, but the big guys in their run for the National League pennant still are Vern Law and Bob Friend.

The two right-handers have put away exactly half of the Bucs' 36 victories, while losing only five, and they've accounted for two in a four-game streak that has produced a four-game lead.

First To Win Ten
Law, backed by Bill Virdon's first home run of the season, became the first to win 10 in the majors Friday night, cooling off Los Angeles' home run bats for a 2-1 victory over the Dodgers.

Second-place San Francisco, with Manager Bill Rigney rumored on the way out, ended their losing string at four with a 7-3 victory over last-place Philadelphia. Milwaukee, five games back in third, checked St. Louis 3-2 in 12 innings. The Cincinnati Reds lost their sixth in a row—their longest slump of the year—as Chicago's Cubs took a 6-4 decision.

Hurts Four-Hitter
Law, who has lost two blanked the Dodgers on four hits until the ninth. Then he got Duke Snider to hit into a game-ending doubleplay after Junior Gilliam had doubled and scored on Charlie Neal's single. Neal had half of the Dodgers' hits, extending his hit streak to 13 games while adding his 23rd RBI in that span.

Law gave up just one walk and struck out five while ending the Dodgers' home run streak at 17 games.

Stan Williams, a loser for the first time in seven decisions, gave up Virdon's clinch home run in the sixth.

Fans With Bases Loaded
Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda clubbed homers for the Giants and drove in five runs. Mays' triple and Cepeda's sacrifice fly got things started in a decisive three-run fourth against losing lefty Chris Short (3-2). Southpaw Mike McCormick (8-2) won it, losing a shutout on Frank Herrera's two-run homer in the seventh. Billy Loes saved it, retiring Tony Taylor on a pop and fanning pinch-hitter Clay Dalrymple with the bases loaded in the ninth.

End Cards' Streak
Al Spangler, a defensive second-liner, tripled and scored on Felix Mantilla's single as the Braves ended the Cardinals' streak at four. The Cards, who had won six of seven, managed only two hits, one Bill White's fourth-inning homer, off southpaw George Brunet before tying it 2-2 with an unearned run in the ninth. Bob Buhl (6-3) won it in his first relief appearance.

Bob Will's home run and a two-out, two-run single by Jim Hegan gave it to the Cubs as they broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth. Don Elston (4-3), who blanked the Reds on two hits for 4-3 innings, was given the victory although Bob Anderson was the pitcher of record. Don Newcombe (3-5) was the loser.

ORIOLES BEAT TIGERS; YANKS DOWN CHICAGO

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
On April 23, 1939, Ted Williams hit his first major league home run. Wynn Hawkins then was a toddler of 3 in East Palestine, Ohio.

Friday night, 21 years later, Hawkins, a right-handed rookie with the Cleveland Indians, gave up Williams' 500th home run.

The shot through the mist at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium put Williams with the elite of baseball's all-time sluggers—Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx and Mel Ott, the only others to hit 500.

It was Williams' eighth of the season and cracked a third-inning tie for a 3-1 Boston victory that slipped Cleveland to third place in the American League race.

Orioles Beat Tigers

Baltimore retained a 1½ game lead by beating Detroit 3-1. The New York Yankees, now all alone in second place, defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-2. Washington beat Kansas City 3-1.

Williams' milestone home run followed a single by Willie Tasby off Hawkins (4-4) and gave the last-place Red Sox their first decision over Cleveland in seven tries. Frank Sullivan (3-6), winning two in a row for the first time, sent the Indians to their third straight loss with a four-hitter.

Breaks Shutout
Gene Stephens broke up a four-hit shutout by loser Frank Lary (6-6) with a two-run pinch homer as Baltimore came from behind with three runs in the seventh. Jerry Walker (2-0) was the winner.

Cletis Boyer hit a two-run homer in the second inning, then on winning pitcher Art Ditmar's single in the seventh for the Yankees, who have won eight of 10. Billy Pierce (5-3) was the loser. Mickey Mantle also homered for the Yankees—who whooped it up with sparklers after both home runs in answer to that pinball scoreboard at Comiskey Park.

Rookie Dan Dobbek drove in two of the Senators' three runs. His single capped a two-run fourth against loser Ray Herbert, and he homered in the ninth off reliever Don Larsen. Bill Fischer (2-2) was the winner.

Dairy Foods Furnish Fine Valuable Food Bargains

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

This year marks the 23rd anniversary of June Dairy Month. During the month, the dairy industry makes an attempt to tell the public how important dairy products are to the economy of the nation. The American Dairy Association, promotional and advertising arm of the nation's dairy farmer, assisted by other dairy organizations and the U. S. Department of Agriculture is spearheading the drive this year.

The dairy industry plays an important role in the economy of Pennsylvania and it comprises the largest single segment of the agricultural income. A total of about 6,662,000 pounds of milk is produced annually with a value near $330,000,000. Pennsylvania ranks fifth in milk production in the United States, third in amount of milk consumed, and first in ice cream manufacture.

Real purpose of June Dairy Month is to get everybody acquainted with the fact that during the month of June, there is a bigger supply than usual of all the many fine dairy foods, which means that the supplies of milk, butter, ice cream, cheese and all the other dairy foods reach a peak. It means that just about everyone who sells dairy products is going to be suggesting to Mrs. Homemaker new ideas on how to use more dairy foods in meal planning. It means that food stores and dairy delivery trucks are going to be offering valuable food buys.

Outstanding Food Bargain
Dairy foods furnish the American people with approximately 1/4 of our protein, 1/5 of the Vitamin A, 1/2 of the riboflavin, and 3/4 of the calcium in diet. For all this food value, we pay only between 15 and 20 cents of the food dollar. There is no doubt about it, dairy foods furnish us with outstanding food bargains.

The nation's annual milk supply of about 125 billion pounds is consumed as follows: 47.6 per cent as fluid milk and cream, 25.1 per cent as butter, 11 per cent as cheese, 4.9 per cent as evaporated and condensed milk, 6.8 per cent as ice cream and 3.6 per cent for miscellaneous use. The per capita consumption is approximately 305 pounds milk, 7.4 pounds cream, 8.5 pounds butter, 7.9 pounds cheese, 5.2 pounds cottage cheese, and 17.9 pounds of ice cream.

Watch Hay Closely
Early in the haying season farmers are anxious to get their hay in the barn as fast as possible. Poor drying weather and possible loss of the hay crop often encourage taking chances in putting wet hay in the barn.

To be on the safe side, inspect hay mows at least twice a week during the first two months after the hay has been stored. When a mow shows the first signs of heating, take temperature readings. The hay is entering the danger zone when the temperature reaches 150 degrees Fahrenheit. Make daily observations. A build up of heat to 160 degrees is a definite sign of danger. Take temperature reading every four hours. At 175 degrees hot spots or fire pockets may be anticipated and all ventilation should be closed off. Call the fire department for stand-by service.

At 185 degrees the hay should be carefully removed with an ample supply of water ready to quench the flames which will probably develop when air comes in contact with the hot, spoiled hay. Over 200 degrees the hay is ready to explode into flame at any time.

Danger To Workmen
Workmen should not enter the mow alone or without ropes around their waists when there may be fire pockets in the mow because there is the danger of dropping into them. Long planks may be placed across the top of the hay for workmen to stand on while making observations.

Use of the barn hay drier has reduced the number of fires caused by spontaneous combustion. Air is forced through the hay for final drying and there is no chance for a build-up of heat. Other advantages are the saving of the leaves and green color, resulting in better quality of hay.

Farm Income in 1960
USDA reports that the index of prices received by farmers has risen five per cent since mid-December. . . . mainly because of higher prices for hogs, cattle, chickens, and eggs . . . and is now only slightly below a year ago. Prices of farm products during the remaining months of 1960 are

RED-AROUSED JAPANESE ARE RIOTING AGAIN

By JIM BECKER
TOKYO (AP)—Japanese massing in the greatest demonstration in postwar history milled and snake-danced around Parliament tonight in a last ditch attempt to block this country's new military alliance with the United States.

Unofficial estimates put the total at 200,000. In addition to attacking the treaty, they demanded the downfall of Premier Nobusuke Kishi's pro-American government.

They poured into the center of Tokyo by train, truck, street car, subway, bus, on foot and by taxi to join a tremendous surge toward the white stone Parliament building.

Wave Red Banners
Tension mounted as they zig-zagged through the streets waving giant red banners and chanting "Down with Kishi." "Crush the security pact."

Police were mobilized for action.

The demonstrators, who have the blessing of the hard core Communist party leadership in Japan, want Kishi to quit and dissolve Parliament before ratification of the pact automatically becomes final at a moment past midnight.

They sweated profusely under the hottest day of the year—81 degrees Fahrenheit at mid-afternoon—as leaders whipped them up with constant reminders of Michiko Kamba. She is the 22-year-old university coed who was trampled to death last Wednesday in the charge of left-wing students through police barriers into the Diet grounds.

"Don't let her death be in vain," they shouted over their loudspeaker cars.

Nearly 3,000 students and professors marched to the Parliament from Tokyo University after attending a funeral for the girl. Several thousand other students swarmed angrily to the building from memorial services at nearby Hibiya Park.

NOT TRYING TO STOP KENNEDY

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. David Lawrence says he has not been involved in and will not become involved in any stop-Kennedy movement.

The Pennsylvania Democratic leader, speaking Friday night to the state convention of Connecticut Democrats, commented on speculation that he was secretly trying to block the nomination of Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts as the party's candidate for president.

Lawrence, who has not committed himself publicly to any candidate, said: "There has not been any effort to consolidate the strength of the states with the big delegations—either to nominate any candidate or to prevent the nomination of any candidate. . . . I may tell you whatever influence I have with the delegates from Pennsylvania will not be used in a movement to 'stop' any candidate. . . .

likely to average about the same as, or even slightly higher than, the corresponding months of 1959. Consequently, if growing conditions this year are about average, cash receipts from a continued heavy volume of farm marketings may equal those of 1959. Some further increase in farm production expenses seems likely, however, so realized net income of farm operators from farming may fall slightly short of the eleven billion dollars realized last year.

With the farm population continuing to decline, per capita income of farm people from all sources should equal the average of nine hundred and sixty dollars of 1960 of 1959.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
The Associated Press

Now that most of us have finished our planting, let's take time out to check on some of the new items in the garden world, and what the future will offer.

Horticulturists are busy developing new strains of plants for us. They are searching for roses that will be more rugged and require less care. They are working to provide strawberry plants that will withstand the severe cold of the northland.

They have broken through the melon-blockade to introduce a Casaba-type that will mature early enough even in New England. They are experimenting with a watermelon plant that will ripen before heavy frost, and a table beet that is easier to plant and thin out. Another vegetable of the future is a dwarf pea with edible pods.

Available this growing season are:

Color Turns
A watermelon with a built-in ripeness indicator, which we have mentioned in a previous column. The midget variety turns from green to a golden color when it is ready for your table. This melon, of a size easy to handle and store in the refrigerator, matures in 65 days and has high sugar content.

Another new early watermelon is the New Hampshire Market Midget, which has a light green skin, matures early, is quite productive and sweet. It has kept in the field after frost.

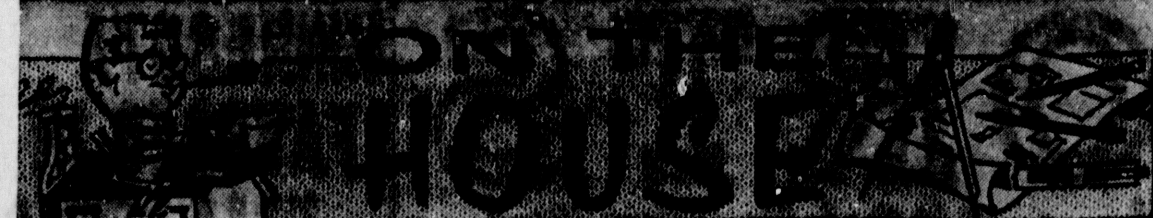

Sweetheart beet is a new late, extra-sweet variety, solid and deep red. It is a cross of Detroit Dark Red and a white sugar beet from the Red River Valley of the Southwest.

A compact bush squash of Table Queen type is Sweetnut. It has edible seeds considered nutritionally equal to peanuts. This fine-flavored squash is a cross between bush summer squash and a German pumpkin with uncoated (naked) seeds.

Casaba-type Melon
The new Casaba-type melon is out now on a trial basis but won't be ready for you to plant for another year or two. It is expected to mature in 85 days, compared with 110-120 days required by the delectable California and Southwestern melons. The parents of this luscious, thick-skinned product are a Korean sweet melon and a North African honeydew. Thus far the melon has no formal name. It is known as New Hampshire No. 1 Casaba.

If you have winter-kill troubles with strawberry plants, try the new Chief Bemidji next time. It has been known to survive 50-degree-below-zero cold of Minnesota.

The University of Minnesota also has developed Park bluegrass which is being touted as an aid to gardeners in their fight

Realtors say one of their biggest headaches is getting sellers of homes to put realistic prices on their properties.

Most properties understandably think their houses are worth more than they really are. Some base their prices on others that have been sold in the neighborhood, then add a considerable amount to cover improvements they have made. It is a fact of life that rarely can a home owner recover, in the sale price, the money he put into improvements. However, because the prices of homes generally have gone up in recent years, the home owner usually will get more for the house than he paid for it. But it still must be in the price range of similar houses in the same neighborhood.

Another angle is that many buyers have come to believe that the quoted selling price of a used house is not what the owner actually expects to get for it. The owner, knowing this, often deliberately asks more than he wants or hopes to get. It's an odd situation but not too different from business in general, where list prices, in many cases, have become meaningless.

Here are other bits of information of interest to home owners: It is estimated that two out of every three buyers of homes are second or third-time home owners.

There are, according to a recent survey, more than 13 million home workshops in the United States.

The mobile home industry is conducting an intensive campaign against crabgrass.

In Tomato Field
In the tomato field there are Double-Rich and Caro Red. Double-Rich is high in vitamin C. Caro Red, orange in color, has lots of vitamin A.

Richer in vitamin A than the general run of sweet potatoes is Allgold Sweet. Gaining favor among apple fanciers is Monroe, which was introduced by Cornell University fruit breeders at the Geneva, N. Y., Experiment Station in 1949. Station Pomologist Leo G. Klein believes Monroe will become an important addition to the commercial varieties. He reports good-sized annual yields, high quality fruit of good size and color.

Other new apple varieties showing promise are Matsu, a golden delicious type from Japan; Spencer, a late dessert apple from Canada; New Jersey No. 10, a late dessert type; and Star's Jongrines, a summer apple. Crosses between Red Spy and Golden Delicious also did well last year.

to get local lawmakers to improve regulatory laws for mobile home parks, which too often are unsightly and inconveniently located because of zoning restrictions.

Prospective home purchasers are often told that copper, brass or bronze pipes outlast those made of iron or steel, but most of them can not tell the difference. Here's an easy way if you're really concerned about the matter. Buy a small magnet and take it with you when you go shopping for a house iron and steel will cling to the magnet, the other metals will not. Iron and steel pipes usually are less expensive and, if new, will last 20 years or more, depending on a number of factors. Copper, brass and bronze last even longer because of their non-corrosive qualities.

In a survey of female home owners attending a recent session in Washington, it was learned that those contemplating new purchases were willing to pay up to $1,000 more for a house just to have its exterior of individual design.

If you're contemplating the purchase of a backyard swimming pool, be sure that the quoted price includes all the essentials.

Custom-built log cabins, with a rustic exterior and a modern interior, are getting quite a play as second and vacation homes.

Trucker Guilty In Death Of Four

READING, Pa. (AP)—A truck driver has been convicted of involuntary manslaughter for the deaths of four men in a highway accident.

A jury of 10 women and two men in Berks County Common Pleas court returned the verdict Friday against James R. Robinette, of Bristol, Tenn.

Robinette was allowed to renew his $2,500 bail pending an appeal for a new trial or his appearance in court for sentencing on Aug. 4. The accident happened on Sept. 2 in Bethel Township. The four victims were riding in a car. Robinette's truck pushed the car into the rear of another truck.

Robinette said that he had been unable to stop in time to avoid striking the car.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By S. F. M. MacPHERSON

"THEY FLED WYOMING . . ."
For the past several weeks the readers of this column have been treated to a fairly steady diet of genealogy and for that reason, if no other, a change is in order. The historical and genealogical study of the "Upper" Low Dutch Burial Ground of the Conewago will be continued in future columns.

In the history of Pennsylvania, both as province and state, the territory now known as Adams County seems to have been, in some way or other, included in all major events. Take the tragic and terrible Wyoming Massacre for example:

"The Star and Sentinel," May 22, 1866 —
"Death of the Last Survivor of the Wyoming Massacre —
Last Massacre Survivor"

"We learn from the 'Hanover Spectator' that Mr. Samuel Kennedy, age 93 years, died at his residence in Petersburg (York Springs), Adams County, Pennsylvania, on Friday, May 11, 1866. The deceased was the last survivor of the Wyoming Massacre, which occurred during the War of the American Revolution—his mother having brought him away when five years old in her flight from the inhuman slaughter. She, with her son, Samuel Kennedy, settled in Menallen Township, then in York, but now in Adams County, Pennsylvania. Here Samuel Kennedy continued to reside until his death, surrounded by a numerous family of children, grand- and great-grandchildren, a venerable citizen respected by all who knew him. He was born in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, on the 6th of December 1773."

The "Gettysburg Compiler," May 22, 1866 —
"A correspondent of the 'Baltimore Sun,' in a letter, dated York Springs, May 12th, 1866, says—Mid In Field"

"Samuel Kennedy's father, John Kennedy, with his two brothers, Samuel and Thomas Kennedy, settled in the Wyoming Settlement some time before its destruction by the Indians. The uncle, Samuel Kennedy, was killed, and his wife and six children taken prisoners and never heard of after the massacre. John Kennedy's wife and three children, the eldest being the boy, Samuel Kennedy, just deceased, after hiding in a wheat field, surrounded by Indians, all night, finally escaped. John Kennedy was absent at the time, having gone to Penn's Valley to assist in guarding the people there from the Indians. Two of John Kennedy's wife's brothers were killed in the massacre. The other Kennedy (Thomas) was a single man at the time and escaped uninjured."

According to a fairly reliable family tradition Samuel Kennedy, last survivor of the Wyoming Massacre, is buried in a grave that is now unmarked in the graveyard of old Christ Episcopal Church, Huntington Township, this county. There are quite a good few other members of the Kennedy family buried here — both in marked and unmarked graves, more

In her flight from the Indians and Tories at the time of the massacre, the wife of John Kennedy, with her three small children, must have had some reason for choosing Menallen Township, in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, as a place of refuge. Again referring to family tradition, another but related branch of the Kennedy family had been living in the "English Settlement" in Huntington and Menallen Townships for many years. It is reasonable to assume that Mrs. Kennedy and her children fled to relatives and, having experienced sufficient horror to last a lifetime, the family decided to remain in York (now Adams) County.

Is Well Documented

Because of its historical importance the Wyoming Massacre is fairly well documented. Historians, in the main, agree on all important points regarding the Battle of Wyoming, as the massacre is sometimes called. It was but natural that the Iroquois (Indian) Federation, or the Six Nations, was ranged in the War of the American Revolution on the same side as Sir William Johnson's son, John Johnson, and William Penn's grandson, as well as the Quakers, all of whom had remained the firm friends of the Indian. It was quite as natural that the Indians should be on a different side from the so-called Scotch-Irish, the Connecticut settlers, and the French. The British Government offered a reward for the scalps of the Americans. The whole of Pennsylvania beyond the Susquehanna River thus became the scene of raids by the Indians, who were urged on and frequently accompanied by English officers and Tories.

The year 1778 brought great distress and fear to the entire frontier, but particularly to the Wyoming Valley, in what is now Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. The defeat and surrender of the British General Burgoyne had left the British without a sufficient available force in America to carry on a regular campaign for that year. The war, however, had to be continued and the only resource left was to employ the Indians and Tories almost exclusively in carrying on a war of desolation and destruction on the frontier.

Attack On Fort

Late in June, 1778, the notorious Colonel John Butler with his Tory Rangers, a detachment of Colonel John Johnson's Royal Greens, and a large body of Indians, chiefly Seneca, descended the Susquehanna River. This force numbered approximately 400 British and Tories and 700 Indians. A formidable army to throw against the almost defenseless frontier. The initial assault was on Fort Jenkins, located uppermost in the Wyoming Valley. Here were gathered nearly all of the families living in the neighborhood. The fort was attacked and forced to surrender to a superior force on July 2, 1778. Fort Wintermoot, located one mile below Fort Jenkins, threw open its gates when the enemy appeared and surrendered without firing a shot. Here, at Fort Wintermoot, the British and Tories assembled.

These notes on the Wyoming Massacre will be continued in this column next week.

With the exception of minerals and metals, Florida could almost be self-sufficient. Its farms, ranches and fishing resources supply almost all other needs. And its tourist attractions supply money for everything else.

MIKE SOUCHAK FIRES 135 TO LEAD TOURNEY

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer
DENVER (AP) — Cherry Hills, the course they said would play as easy as picking a plum, already has yielded two records to hungry Mike Souchak and the ravenous field chasing him in the National Open golf tournament.

By tonight, when the last two rounds in this 60th edition of golf's prestige tournament are over, the pretty little Rocky Mountain meadow acreage that's been whimpering under two days of solid assaults may have given up two or three more—including the biggest of them all.

May Break Record

Souchak, a husky, genial former Duke football player, needs only a pair of 70s in this pressure-packed, stamina-draining double round today to break the 72-hole open record of 276 set by Ben Hogan at the Riviera Country Club in Los Angeles in 1948.

Two marks, also set at Riviera, were smashed Friday. The burly Souchak fired a 4-under-par 67 and hit the halfway point in the championship with a 36-hole total of 135, and a three-stroke lead over runner-up Doug Sanders of Miami Beach. The general scoring was so good that it took a 36-hole total of 147 or better to qualify for the last 36.

Crowd Of 28,610

The best previous 36-hole start was 138 set first by Sam Snead at Riviera in 1948 and later matched by Hogan at Dallas' Northwood Club in 1952, and by Dick Mayer and Billy Joe Patton at Inverness in Toledo in 1957.

Never before had it taken less than 148 to get into the last two rounds. With a two-day attendance total of 28,610 at this picturesque 7,004-yard, par 35-36-71 layout and a dandy bunch of 10 or 12 in position to give Souchak real trouble, the record open attendance of 43,377 set at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y., last year should fall.

Only two days before starting the tournament, Souchak stomped off the ninth hole of a practice round in disgust at his play. Then he marched out to grab the first-round lead with 3-under-par 68 and followed up Friday with his 67 despite a bogey 5 on the last hole.

"Yes sir," he said, "I'm playing very well."
Sanders had a 68 Friday and would be even closer except for the 6 he took on the 18th Thursday when a trout jumped in the lake in front of the tee and he topped his drive into the water.

Milk Needed By Everyone; Strawberries Plentiful

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON

Home Economist

Everyone needs milk. This includes children, teen-agers and adults. Too often parents make sure their children drink milk but neglect to include it in their own diets.

Milk and some milk products provide the only good source of calcium in the American diet. Calcium is necessary for building and maintaining healthy bones and teeth. In addition to calcium, milk contains many other minerals and vitamins.

The amount of milk each family member needs varies. Children need three to four cups of milk daily; teen-agers need four or more cups; adults need two or more cups per day.

An easy way to see that family members get the milk they need is to serve it as a beverage. For variety with snacks, try making different milk drinks. Serve eggnog or milkshakes flavored with chocolate, spices and molasses, or banana, strawberry and other fruit purées.

You can also use milk in cooking. Creamed soups, scalloped dishes and desserts, such as puddings, custards and cream pies, contain milk. Some milk products, such as cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and ice cream, may be substituted for milk in the diet.

Strawberry Season Short

"Here today and gone tomorrow" is the sad story of fresh strawberries, so make the most of the season while it's here.

With favorable weather conditions, there should be plenty of strawberries in local markets and at roadside stands by the middle of June. The state Department of Agriculture estimates that Pennsylvania growers should pick almost four million pounds of berries this year, or about two per cent more than in 1959.

One way to tell when home-grown berries are on the market is to notice the container size. Shipped-in berries are sold in pint containers and usually at a higher price. Local berries are generally marketed in quart boxes.

When comparing the price of fresh strawberries, keep in mind the container size. A quart of berries selling at 45 cents is a better buy than a pint at 29 cents. A quart of fresh berries will provide about twice as many servings as one 10-ounce package of frozen berries. Although two packages of frozen berries weigh more than a quart of fresh berries, about half the contents is syrup.

KANSAS LOOMS AS FAVORITES IN NCAA FINALS

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Kansas' great Jayhawkers fleet and powerful, appeared ready today to storm to their second straight NCAA track and field crown.

But Southern California's Trojans, 20 times the NCAA champs, were in a position to make it a contest.

Kansas qualified eight men into today's finals with an impressive display of overall strength Friday. Oregon was next with seven qualifiers, followed by UCLA, 6; Michigan, 5, and Occidental, 4.

USC placed only three men—the same number as San Jose State, Harvard, California, Morgan State, Oregon State and Arizona.

Stars Waiting
But the Trojans had stars waiting in the wings for three events. There was no qualifying necessary Friday for the pole vault, high jump or hop-skip-and-jump and USC is strong in all three.

Big Bill Alley and Charlie Tidwell led Kansas' fine display Friday. Tidwell, defending champ in the 100 meters, won his heat with 10.4 and captured his semifinal heat in the 200 meters around a curve with 21.2.

Alley hurled his javelin 264 feet, 2 inches for an NCAA record, surpassing the 257½ unbroken here in 1958 by John Fromm of Pacific Lutheran.

The only other NCAA mark shattered Friday was by USC's young giant, Dallas Long, who tossed the 16-pound shot 61-9, erasing the 60-½ heave of Manhattan's Ken Bantum in 1956.

Let's Look At The Record

NOT MERELY DIPLOMATIC
Red Inspired Anarchism In Japan
Is Not Aimed At Treaty But Democracy

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.

President, Wisconsin State College Superior

JAPAN HAS BEEN and still is teetering on the brink of anarchy.

In the land of blossoms and earthquakes, the unleashed riots problem is bigger than the challenged treaty with America.

Whether Mr. Eisenhower's proposed visit would have had the added effect of saving Japan from internal chaos as well as salvaging the mutual security treaty will never be known.

The strength of the American, democratic institutions General MacArthur transplanted to and nurtured in that strange, foreign, Oriental land are now receiving their first major test.

Against this background, the treaty replacing the 1951 pact becomes of secondary importance. Mr. Eisenhower undoubtedly sensed this early in the game.

THE RECORD shows that Douglas MacArthur necessarily built hastily in the creation of the post-war Japanese democracy. Even so, until the sudden emergence of anarchistic mobs from out of the Socialist party and Jap labor unions, Nippon's governmental institutions appeared as solid as the Biblical house high above the shifting sands.

THE JAPANESE Constitution that went into effect May 3, 1947, stripped the Mikado of all pretensions to divinity. Of course, American victories on land, sea and air had already done that. But MacArthur's making the Japanese people admit it and put it in writing reflected little credit upon an America dedicated to a loudly ostentatious concept of complete religious freedom.

The same constitution was closer to the lives of most Japanese when it added an American bill of rights, greatly abridged civil police powers, and lowered the voting age for men from 25 to 20. It extended the same suffrage to all women.

Just why MacArthur's planners thought Jap men and women are informed enough to vote at 20, though Americans must wait until 21 to achieve political maturity, has never been explained.

Far more serious was the constitutional pledge never to maintain armies, fleets, air forces. This, with China going Red, created a power vacuum in the Far East that America has had to choose between filling herself or letting an allied Japan do it.

Came the Korean War, and Truman's administration began moving heaven and earth to get Japan back in the armed forces business and as an ally. Thus came the Treaty of 1951. Truman's policy has continued.

JAPAN'S American inspired constitution notwithstanding, the Japs today maintain growing armed forces in excess of a quarter of a million officers and men!

To make the Japanese military blossom smell like a constitutional rose, these men are not in the army, navy or air force. They are in the Nippon Ground Self-Defense Force, Maritime Self-Defense Force and Air Self-Defense Force.

The new treaty, which the Communists have used to create the anarchistic mob scenes against Premier Kishi's government, contemplates the coordination of these forces with American bases and installations for the containment of Red China and an expanding Russia.

It necessarily calls attention to the above mentioned, hypothetiis being tested by all the conserved and previously concealed energies, guiles and wiles of the Communists. Their instrument is anarchy, their slogans socialist.

The bride's attendants, Miss Joan Cornbower, New Oxford, and Miss Barbara Fink, McSherrystown, were dressed identically as the maid of honor, except for color. The attendants wore lavender dresses. They carried colonial bouquets of orchid and white carnations.

Keith Sentz, Littlestown, brother of the groom, was the ring-bearer, and Cynthia Murren, McSherrystown, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white short dress of nylon. Her headdress was a small white hat, topped with pink daisies. She carried a pink net basket of mixed flowers.

ACQUIT PILOT IN AIR CRASH COURT MARTIAL

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—An Air Force pilot who bailed out of his B52 Stratofortress after a collision last December has been acquitted by a court martial of dereliction of duty.

Capt. William B. Harris, 34, of Middletown, Pa., was found innocent Thursday on all charges and specifications. The court deliberated 55 minutes.

Harris, who was at the controls, ejected himself after colliding with a tanker refueling plane over Maine last Dec. 14. Lt. David B. Morris, radar navigator, also bailed out.

Bailout Warnings

The B52 was guided to an emergency landing by Lt. Col. Billy G. Mosley, an instructor-pilot aboard as an inspector.

Principal question in the trial was whether Harris had given bailout warnings to the crew. Two co-pilots said they heard no warnings, but the defendant testified he gave warnings and bailout instructions.

Lt. Col. Winston E. Moore, chief of 99th Bomb Wing Standardization Division, testified "the depression which occurred in the B52 when its cabin was punctured (by collision) at that altitude (14,500-15,500 feet) could have had a strong effect on the inter-phon communication system."

No Serious Injuries

Harris' commanding officer testified he did not consider the defendant in command of the B52 when the collision occurred. Lt. Col. Jack M. Lewis, head of the 348th Bomb Squadron, said he considered Lt. Col. Mosley as the bomber commander in the emergency.

Lewis called Harris "an outstanding pilot who has won many flying awards."

There were no serious injuries in the collision. Seven crew members of the tanker were hospitalized briefly, but all returned to duty within a few days.

FARMERS NEED MARKET PLANS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A system of voluntary marketing controls is needed to protect Pennsylvania farmers from "financial disaster," says Gov. Lawrence.

Speaking Thursday night at a meeting of the State Poultry Federation, the governor called on the egg producers to support proposed legislation which he said would give farmers a larger voice in production and marketing decisions. He added:

"Much of the trouble in the poultry business today stems from the fact that many decisions in production and marketing were removed from the grower. The end result has been financial disaster for many broiler growers. The egg business was going in the same direction."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crouse, Middle St., spent Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Zimmerman, Silver Spring, Md.

Let us hope that the hard lesson learned by the broilermen will be enough to keep this from happening to egg producers. "There is no reason farmers cannot, through their own initiative, develop marketing plans that will maximize profits without making retail costs prohibitive. With the help of government, but without governmental control, this can become a reality."

Utes Hunt Buffalo With Sleep Pellets

AZTEC, N.M. (AP)—A band of Ute Indians today stalked a buffalo across the low mountain country of northwest New Mexico.

No bows and arrows for these hunters, though. They were armed with a gun that shoots tranquilizer pellets.

The Utes want the buffalo cow alive and in good shape. She is one of seven the tribe keeps for ceremonial purposes.

She left the tribal grounds in southwestern Colorado Thursday and wandered to near the Cedar Hill community in northwest New Mexico.

VIENNA (AP) — Radio Budapest reported Friday that seven persons were killed and 28 injured in a bus crash Thursday. The broadcast said the crowded bus went off the road to the Budapest airport. The cause of the accident was not given.

More than 21 million incorrectly addressed letters end up annually in the Post Office Department's dead letter offices, undeliverable and unreturnable.

Has Many Witnesses
"I have a lot of witnesses—40 or 50—to talk to," Hardee said shortly before dawn.

More than 250 persons were present for the board's regular monthly meeting and about 30 took part in the fight.

Tension has been high since the board of the consolidated school district which covers the east part of Henderson County last April fired Homer Bass, superintendent for 23 years. The district had long been split into pro-Bass and anti-Bass factions.

In the April elections anti-Bass forces ousted all but one pro-Bass board member.

It was not clear immediately what caused the fight Thursday night.

One Killed, Several Hurt In School Board Battle

BROWNSBORO, Tex. (AP) — A smoldering feud that has long split this east Texas town flared into a free-for-all fight Thursday night at a school board meeting. One man was shot to death, four were injured, and the school board secretary was charged with murder.

Killed was Thurman Jackson, 42, lumber company operator, who was felled by two bullets minutes after he demanded the board itemize some of the bills it had presented.

School Board President Ivan H. Long suffered a cut over his eye when he was struck several times in the face. Board member J. P. Parker said he blacked out after being struck in the face and hit over the head. Bill Melton was shot in the arm. George Rash suffered several knife wounds.

Accuse Doctor In Shooting
Dr. Charles Rahm, school board secretary and a former Brownsboro mayor, was charged with murder in Jackson's death. Henderson County Dist. Atty. Jack Hardee said Dr. Rahm was being held in an undisclosed jail.

Four Texas Rangers and more than a half dozen highway patrol cars poured into Brownsboro as a safeguard against further violence and to assist in the all-night investigation conducted at the courthouse in nearby Athens, Henderson County seat.

More than 50 witnesses to the fight were questioned. Hardee said Bill Barton had been charged with affray in the attack on Long and that he expected to file charges against others.

"I have a lot of witnesses—40 or 50—to talk to," Hardee said shortly before dawn.

More than 250 persons were present for the board's regular monthly meeting and about 30 took part in the fight.
